Imagilent announces name change to Imaginant

Will continue to focus on digital imaging and ultrasonic products

ROCHESTER, NY, USA (December 15, 2004) – Imagilent Inc., a technology leader in the development of high quality industrial and scientific digital cameras and imaging systems as well as ultrasonic gauging technology and products, today announced a new corporate name.

“We are changing our name from Imagilent Inc. to Imaginant Inc. in order to overcome trademark limitations”, said Richard Barrett, General Manager. “The name Imaginant conveys the dual meanings of conceiving and imagining, concepts that our company has been noted for since our first product was launched in 1987. Nothing is changing other than our name, and we will continue to grow both our digital camera and JSR Ultrasonics brand name product lines” Barrett said.

In conjunction with the corporate name change, Imaginant has changed the name of its website to www.imaginant.com.

Imaginant’s digital cameras are used by OEM customers in applications as varied as portraiture, microscopy and surveillance. Imaginant is now shipping the first of many new products, the HR-1100c, which is a rugged, 11 Megapixel, color, digital camera with a Gigabit Ethernet interface.

The Ultrasonic gauging products sold under the JSR Ultrasonics PELT brand name continue to be widely used by the automotive and other industries to measure the thickness of coatings on a variety of surfaces, both metallic and nonmetallic. Other uses for JSR Ultrasonics products include semiconductor inspection, material properties research and pipeline inspection.
